At 12:35 p.m. today [redacted] Department of State, telephonically contacted [redacted]
Domestic Intelligence Division, [redacted]

I telephonically contacted [redacted] at Department of State at 1:45 p.m. and made reference to his earlier call and at that time he stated that he was wondering if the FBI had or would advise the Israelis concerning this threat. [redacted]

I told [redacted] that we had furnished State Department with a teletype early on the evening of February 28 containing information concerning the alleged plot to assassinate the Israeli Ambassador to Washington and that our teletype to State advised State that we had no objection if State deems it desirable to inform the Israelis of the threat. I told [redacted] that since the contact was to be with the Israeli Embassy, it was felt State should handle the information rather than the FBI and we had no objection to State or the Israelis asking the Police Department for additional police protection for the Israeli Ambassador if they thought it desirable.

THE SECOND WORLD CONFERENCE IN SUPPORT OF THE ARAB PEOPLES

Cairo 25-28 January 1967

"IS it reasonable that legends thousands of years old should be the pretext for armed invasion aimed at driving away an entire population, the Palestinian People, from the heart of the Arab nation and that such invasion should threaten other populations living between the Nile and the Euphrates? Is it reasonable that the pretext for this invasion should be the return to the Promised Land?"

This was how President Nasser addressed the World Conference in Support of the Arab Peoples when it met in Cairo, on 25th January. Some 400 personalities from all over the world, in fact from 75 countries and 15 international organizations, came to express their solidarity with the Arab people in their struggle against Israel and its imperialist and expansionist policies in the Middle East. Among these prominent people were distinguished figures of international stature such as the British historian Arnold Toynbee, the Soviet writer Sholokov, the French writer Jacques Berque, Professor Marcel Liebman, from Belgium, together with many others who achieved fame in political, labour, cultural and social activities. Moreover, the presence of a number of Jewish personalities bore witness to the fact that the Arab-Israeli conflict is neither religious nor racial in essence but is primarily concerned with putting an end to the expansionist aggressive policies of Israel and restoring the national rights of the Palestinian people.

For the very reason that the Arab-Israeli conflict is neither religious nor racial in essence, the Conference chose as its motto and as its theme 'Peace and Justice in the Middle East', as it is obviously clear that no peace can ever be secure and lasting unless it embodies basic requirements of justice. At the same time, the Conference made it its business to bring to world opinion the facts of the Middle East situation and to try to dispel the common ignorance of these facts that have been hitherto all too much concealed and distorted by every conceivable trick-half-truths or gross misrepresentations—at the disposal of Zionist propaganda. Furthermore, there is the correlated task of cleaning up the load of confusions and schizophrenic stands taken by many supporters of Israel and wilfully nurtured and perpetuated for the past 20 years by a callous Zionist propaganda which used every means within its reach to silence the often timorous voice of so many "liberally-minded" people. For, how else could they have sustained for so long in others the belief that the claim to a Jewish national identity is a rightful claim whereas that of the dispossessed Palestinians is dismissed and written off as the blood, prayers of fanatical Arabs bent on eradicating the very existence of a valiant little people, long persecuted and whose only wish is to come to rest in the land that was promised. As for the unfortunate "Arab refugees", the liberally-minded supporter of Israel would probably shed a passing tear and argue "Couldn't they settle in one of the neighbouring Arab countries? After all, if these countries are prepared to go to war for the sake of these refugees, or so they say, wouldn't it be better to assimilate them in their own population and so peace would come to the area?" A very attractive solution indeed! You just remove the stumbling block and be friends again! If that is not moral schizophrenia, what is it then? In this twentieth century how could a true liberal condone the actions of a country such as Israel which counts as one of the few countries of the world which have elevated racialism and offensive religious bigotry to the level of a State policy?

When he spoke to the Conference, Mr Nabil Shaath, representing the Palestinian resistance movement, Al-Fatah, stressed the fact that the Palestinian people have been deprived of their right to self-determination and that they are the most vulnerable form of a population, that which uproots an entire population and drives it away from its own land in order to make room for another group of people. "In the circumstances," he said, "after all doors had been shut in the face of our Palestinian people, the people had no choice but to resort to violence to recover their rights. Consequently, our people launched their national liberation revolution at the beginning of 1965—that is to say before the June 1967 war—determined to make sacrifices until victory is achieved by fully liberating their territory and returning to their homes." "We are neither fanatics, nor blood-thirsty terrorists", he went on, "we simply cannot endure any longer the misery and humiliations of the dispersion which has been imposed on us. We are entering the fifth year of our Palestinian armed revolution after having scored many victories and achieved many gains which proved our people's presence in the battlefield and manifested our people's will for a comprehensive and long-term popular revolution. This revolution strives for the establishment of a democratic Palestinian State in which Palestinians of all communities—Muslims, Christians and Jews—will live in a progressive democratic society. Our Palestinian revolution, which is an embodiment of our people's will, wishes to assert that it does not fight against the Jews nor hate Judaism. It is fighting Zionist colonialism in our country. In fact, one of the aims of our revolution is to liberate the Jews from Zionism which has dispersed our people and imported Jews in order to use them as tools serving its expansionist ambitions." And the representative of the Palestinian resistance movement concluded: "Our people have lived side by side with the Jews for many years. They provided them with a haven against European persecution. Likewise our people welcomed other communities, such as the Armenians, when they were the victims of Ottoman persecution. Our Palestinian revolution opens its heart and mind to members of humanity who wish to live in the free and democratic Palestinian society, regardless of colour, religion and creed."

In this light, the UN resolution of 22nd November, 1967, is no longer relevant because it aims, among other things, at confirming the State of Israel within "secure and recognized borders", thus sacrificing the Palestinian people on the altar of peace. For this indeed, is the heart of the matter, as it is expressed clearly in the motto and theme of the Conference: "Peace and Justice in the Middle East", peace and justice in one and indivisible concept. And no peace could ever be worth seeking let alone lasting if the price to be paid for it be the humiliation and uprooting of countless people.

One of the major conclusions to be drawn from the Cairo Conference is that the Palestinian liberation movement has become a political factor of great importance in the Middle East and that it cannot be any longer ignored. Witness to that what a former French minister, M. Robert Buon, who was among the French delegation attending the Conference, said to Luc Rouleau, of Le Monde: "If the Israeli fact became a reality in 1947-48, the major consequence of the Six Day War was to crystallize the Palestinian fact. In the long term, Israel could regret having provoked herself the rebirth of the Palestinian nation."

Cairo 25-29 January 1969

"IS it reasonable that legends thousands of years old should be the pretext for armed invasion aimed at driving away an entire population, the Palestinian People, from the heart of the Arab nation and that such invasion should threaten other populations living between the Nile and the Euphrates? YITZHAK RABIN

The 22nd Annual Conference on World Affairs was held Monday through Friday, April 14-18, 1969, at the University of Colorado, at Boulder, Colorado. A brochure concerning this conference reflects that on Wednesday, April 16, 1969, at 8:00 p.m., Yitzhak Rabin, Ambassador of Israel, Washington, D. C., was listed as the feature speaker at Macky Auditorium, University of Colorado Campus, speaking on Israel's future in the Middle East.

"The Denver Post" newspaper, dated April 17, 1969, contained an article reflecting that Rabin spoke as scheduled and stated in part that peace will be restored to the Middle East, but not until Israel is recognized as a nation by its Arab neighbors. The article stated approximately 500 persons attended this session, including a group of Arabs, apparently University of Colorado students, who carried placards into Macky Auditorium, where the address was given protesting Israel military practice. The Arabs, when asked to lower their signs and be seated, stood silently, but steadfastly at either side of the auditorium and refused to be seated. They remained at their posts throughout the ambassador's speech. The article continues Rabin stated, "The only peace in the Middle East that can be acceptable is peace between the Arab countries and Israel -- or Israel and the Arab countries. The major obstacle is that the Arab countries refuse to recognize that Israel exists.

"Peace to Israel means peace between the parties to the conflict -- without external influence from the world's 'big powers'.

"Open boundaries would permit a free exchange of ideas, 'a flow of views'. We cannot maintain peace without the opportunity to talk to each other." Rabin also said that when Egypt announced its blockade of the Straits of the Tiran at the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba, thirteen world powers, including the United States, 'forgot' a previous declaration made by them to the United Nations that they would guarantee free, innocent passage through the strait.

An established source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that the Boulder Police Department and the Colorado University campus police handled this program in an excellent manner and the few Arab students who were carrying signs protesting the speaker caused no difficulty or confusion and remained silent during the speech.

On 5/5/69,

Buffalo, New York Police Department advised that Ambassador RABIN arrived in Buffalo, N.Y. at the Buffalo International Airport on Saturday afternoon, 5/3/69, aboard United Airlines Flight 758. The Ambassador stayed in Rooms 1218 and 1220 at the Statler Hilton Hotel, Buffalo, N.Y. and then at 1:30PM on 5/3/69, conferred with the Ambassador offering him a police escort while in the Buffalo area, which was declined by the Ambassador. However, even though the Ambassador declined the police escort, the Buffalo Police Department followed his activities, a summary which is as follows:

At 11:00 AM, on 5/4/69, the Ambassador spoke at the Montefiore Club at 417 Delaware Ave., Buffalo, after which he attended a brunch; at 2:00 PM, he held a news conference.

At 3:15 PM, he appeared on television station WKBW (Channel 7).

The following agencies in the Chicago area were contacted concerning the World Affairs Conference but were unable to furnish any information either about the conference or the travel of Ambassador RABIN:

United States Department of State, Security Department, SAC MILES BRIGGS, April 16, 1969.

Intelligence Unit, Chicago Police Department, April 16, 1969.

The resident Agent in Rockford, Illinois was also notified on April 16, 1969, and maintained liaison with local agencies.

The "Rockford Morning Star", April 20, 1969, reported that the two day world affairs conference took place as scheduled without incident. Both RABIN and Dr. FAYEZ A. SAYEGH, the representative from the Embassy of Kuwait departed on the day following the conference.

WORKERS WORLD PARTY

On July 22, 1969, a source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that 50 persons representing the Milwaukee Branch of the Workers World Party (WWP), the Milwaukee Branch of Youth Against War and Fascism (YAWF), and the newly formed Progressive Workers Committee (PWC), which is a splinter of the Milwaukee WWP, together with an organization known as the American-Arab Organization, conducted a picket demonstration directed against Yipzhals Rabin, Israel Ambassador to the United States, during his appearance at Congregation Beth Israel, 6880 North Green Bay Avenue, Glendale, Wisconsin, on July 22, 1969. According to the source, the demonstrators carried signs objecting to United States funds being sent to Israel and also signs protesting United States intervention in the Arab-Israeli conflict. Other signs carried by the demonstrators set forth that the conflict in the Mideast would terminate if the United States discontinued its intervention.

The demonstration commenced at 6:30 p.m. and terminated at 7:45 p.m. on July 22, 1969. The entire demonstration was orderly, and no arrests or incidents took place.

MILWAUKEE BRANCH, WORKERS WORLD PARTY

During May, 1969, a source advised that in March, 1967, the Milwaukee Branch of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) withdrew from the SWP and in July, 1967, affiliated with the Workers World Party since the group was in agreement with the stand of the Workers World Party which supported the Peoples Republic of China in its ideological dispute with the Soviet Union.

A characterization of the Workers World Party is attached.

APPENDIX

WORKERS WORLD PARTY

On April 17, 1959, a confidential source advised that on February 12, 1959, a Socialist Workers Party (SWP) minority group under the leadership of National Committee member Sam Ballan, split from the SWP.

The source stated that this minority group, referred to as the Marcyites, after many years of program and policy differences on varied issues concerning tactics and interpretation of political events, split from the SWP on the grounds that the Party was liquidating itself by departing from the Marxist precepts of Leon Trotsky and retreating from the fight for the world socialist revolution. The final issue which ultimately forced the split was the minority's opposition to the SWP regroupment policy which involved cooperation with the Communist Party (CP) periphery-individuals characterized by the minority as petty-bourgeois.

The minority program, according to the source, advocated unconditional defense of the Soviet Union and has as its goal the building of a revolutionary party with a complete proletarian orientation for the purpose of overthrowing capitalism in the United States and throughout the world.

On May 12, 1960, a source advised that this minority group had chosen the name Workers World Party.

On May 1, 1968, a second confidential source advised that the Workers World Party, which maintains headquarters at 46 West 21st Street, New York, New York, supports the People's Republic of China in its ideological dispute with the Soviet Union.

The SWP and the CP have been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

APPENDIX

MILWAUKEE BRANCH, YOUTH AGAINST WAR AND FASCISM

During May, 1968, a source advised that the Milwaukee Branch of the Youth Against War and Fascism (YAWF) was the youth affiliate of the Milwaukee Branch of the Workers World Party and was organized in Milwaukee, Wisconsin during July, 1967, at which time a Branch of the Workers World Party was established. The Milwaukee Branch of the YAWF is an affiliate of the YAWF with national headquarters at 58 W. 25th Street, New York City.

A characterization of the Milwaukee Branch of the Workers World Party, the Workers World Party, and the Youth Against War and Fascism is attached.

APPENDIX

YOUTH AGAINST WAR AND FASCISM (YAWF)

A source advised on March 29, 1965, that the Youth Against War and Fascism, formerly known as the Anti-Fascist Youth Committee, was established by the Workers World Party (WWP) in the summer of 1962, to bring college and high school youth into the periphery of WWP activities and thereby gain recruits for the organization.

A second source advised on October 23, 1964, that a flyer distributed by the YAWF describes that organization as a militant organization of young workers and worker-students for combating war and fascism.

The first source advised on May 1, 1968, that the YAWF maintains its headquarters at 58 West 25th Street, New York City and publishes a magazine called "The Partisan."

munity Center, and Norman Lipsett, general chairman of the Bond Drive, prior to his talk at the Center last night

Israeli envoy blames Soviet for crisis

Russia hopes to win and influence Arab clients by keeping the Mideast situation near a boiling point.

That was the opinion expressed yesterday by Gen. Itzhak Rabin, Israeli ambassador to the United States, in a press conference in the Jewish Community Center.

Rabin said, "The Russians advance their interests by keeping tension in the area so that they can offer political and military support to the Arabs.

The former chief of staff of the Israeli armed forces said he believed the Soviets wanted to keep the conflict short of an all-out war.

Rabin emphasized that Israel would remain adamant against any big-power settlement of the Mideast crisis. "It's up to the countries involved to put an end to the war," he said.

Rabin came to Harrisburg yesterday to attend the Israel bond drive dinner in the Jewish Community Center, where he was guest of honor.

During the predinner interview, the veteran of all three major Arab-Israeli conflicts flare-ups along the Suez Canal are made possible, he indicated, by Russian military aid that has rebuilt Egyptian forces shattered in the June war of 1967.

"The Soviets and Egyptians don't want peace," he said "but a continued war of attrition."

Rabin believed the Arabs were not now inclined to engage in an all-out war, but if it did break out, he saw no reason why the United States and the Soviet Union would be dragged in for an eye-to-eye confrontation.

As for Arab pressure along the cease fire lines, Rabin said Israel could withstand this kind of war of attrition for five or 50 years — "The burden on us will never be great enough to cause us to change our position."

Rabin said enough aid is forthcoming from "friendly nations" to enable Israel to withstand anything the combined Arab armies of some half million men can dish out. "We have the means to defeat the Arabs and deter any attempt for further all-out wars."

AMBASSADOR OF ISRAELBiographical Sketch

In personality, training and interests, Lieutenant General Yitzhak Rabin belongs to the generation whose task it has been first to win and later to defend Israel's freedom. Born in Jerusalem in 1922, son of American pioneer Zionists, Yitzhak Rabin's schooling was such as to prepare him for a career of pioneer farming. He graduated with honors from the Kadoorie Agricultural School in Lower Galilee and shortly thereafter enlisted in the Palmach, the crack units of the Haganah (the underground citizen army of the organized Jewish community in Mandatory days), to fulfill his national defence service. This period was to last for 27 years, in which he was to rise from underground fighter to Chief of Staff of the Israel Defence Forces and Commander of the Israel Army in the Six Day War.

In 1944 Yitzhak Rabin was promoted deputy battalion commander in the Palmach. Two years later he was arrested by the British authorities and held for several months. At the end of 1947, with the outbreak of the hostilities that were to culminate in the War of Independence Yitzhak Rabin was appointed Deputy Commander of the Palmach. His major role in the War of Independence was as Commander of the Palmach Har-El (Mount of God) Brigade which was to play a crucial part in the defence of Jerusalem and the lifting of the siege.

In the second phase of the War of Independence Rabin served as second in command at Southern Command Headquarters and took part in the campaigns for the liberation of the Negev and the Red Sea port of Eilat.

In 1949, as a member of the Israeli delegation, he participated in the armistice negotiations with the Egyptians at Rhodes.

In 1953, he concluded a year of studies at the Camberley Staff College of Great Britain. On returning to Israel he was appointed head of the Training Branch at General Headquarters, and in December 1954, was promoted to the rank of Aluf (Brigadier-General).

His next assignment was to the Northern Command, which he headed from 1956 to 1959. At the end of 1960, he was named Deputy Chief of Staff. In this role and until his appointment as Chief of the General Staff in January 1964, he made various visits abroad with the purpose of becoming acquainted with the armed services of other countries.

On January 1, 1964, Yitzhak Rabin was appointed Chief of the General Staff and promoted to the rank of Rav Aluf (Major General).

In common with so many of his contemporaries, Rav Aluf Rabin assumed his military tasks in response to the needs of the times rather than as a life's calling. Brilliant strategist and hardened combatant, there is little that is martial about his personality. He looks upon his military career as a national service in the deepest sense, borne of his commitment to the welfare security of the land he helped rebuild. This is illustrated by his words at a ceremony on June 28, 1967, shortly after the Six Day War, when the Hebrew University of Jerusalem bestowed on him the degree of Honorary Doctor of Philosophy: "I regard myself there as the representative of the entire Israel Defence Forces...Our warriors prevailed not by their weapons but by their sense of mission, by the consciousness of the rightness of their cause, by a deep love for their country and an understanding of the difficult task laid upon them: to ensure the existence of our people in its homeland, to protect, even at the price of their lives, the right of the Jewish people to live in its own state, free, independent and in peace."

In July 1968 Major General Rabin was promoted to Lieutenant General in the reserves.

Rav Aluf Rabin is married and has two teen-aged children.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Hon. Yitzhak Rabin, Ambassador from the State of Israel to the United States, will be the guest of honor at a civic luncheon scheduled for August 20th in the Caribbean Ballroom of the El Cortez Hotel at noon. Mayor Frank Curran will head the list of civic dignitaries who will welcome the former Chief of Staff of the Israel Defense Forces and Commander of the Israeli Army in the Six Day War, of 1967.

Journeying to San Diego from Washington, D. C., the Ambassador will address San Diegans in a talk titled "Critical Issues in Critical Times -- Israel's Position in the Middle East" after which a question and answer period will follow.

San Diego's 200th Anniversary Committee will honor the emissary by a presentation at the event which will be made by Chief of Protocol, Colonel Irving Salomon, former United States representative to the United Nations.

Serving as Luncheon Chairman is Ben A. Borevitz who has announced an open invitation to San Diegans to attend the event to meet and hear the visitor. Reservations may be made at the United Jewish Federation offices at 4079 - 54th Street, San Diego.

Navy and Marine courtesies will be extended to the Ambassador by Rear Admiral Marshall E. Dornin, Commandant, 11th Naval District and Lt. General Lowell E. English, Commanding Officer, MCRD.

On hand to greet the distinguished visitor will be Philip Gildred, Dean of the Consular Corps in San Diego who will extend greetings from the 34 members of the Corps representing their separate countries.

Joining the Ambassador while he is in San Diego will be Consul General Michael Ravid of Los Angeles who serves the San Diego area.

Sponsor of the civic luncheon is the United Jewish Federation. Leonard J. Zanzville, President, will preside. Stanley E. Foster, Vice President and 1969 Campaign Chairman, will introduce the Ambassador.

Among local dignitaries of the Federation will be Mrs. David Block, National Board member of the United Jewish Appeal Women's Division, and Mrs. Stanley Foster, President of the San Diego Women's Division.

Lt. General Rabin will be guest of the San Diego State College Institute on World Affairs during their evening session.

Re WFO letters to the Bureau, dated 11/3/69 and 11/18/69.

Upon receipt of referenced communications, logical established sources at Buffalo, New York, were alerted to captioned matter.

On 11/20/69, [REDACTED] Buffalo, New York, Police Department, advised SA [REDACTED] that his office had been advised the previous day by the Buffalo Committee For the State of Israel Bonds Office, 323 Sidway Building, Buffalo, New York, that Israeli Ambassador to the United States YITZHAK RABIN would travel to Buffalo, New York, from Washington, D. C., on 11/23/69, via United Air Lines Flight 646, arriving in Buffalo, New York, at 4:34 p.m.

[REDACTED] said that information available to him indicated that Ambassador RABIN would spend that evening at the Statler Hilton Hotel, Buffalo, New York, and between 6:30 p.m. and 10:00 p.m., 11/23/69, would attend a reception in the Embassy Room, Statler Hilton Hotel, and formal dinner in the Ballroom, Statler Hilton Hotel.

[REDACTED] said Ambassador RABIN's appearance was sponsored by the Buffalo Committee For the State of Israel Bonds and that his office had been advised of RABIN's appearance as a routine matter in view of RABIN's position of prestige in the political field.

Bond Goal $1 Million

Rabin jokingly "referred" to the security as a tactic for keeping attendants in the room for the long program.

"I feel quite safe and secure in the United States," he said. "I don't deny that I feel much more secure to walk in Jerusalem than in Washington." He was born in Jerusalem.

Rabin and S. Robert Scheur, general chairman of the bond drive, presented an Israel Prime Minister's Medal to Leo Bachner of Buffalo for contributions to Israel's development. The honorary designation was signed by Premier Golda Meir.

Buffalo's bond goal is $1 million. The bond campaign will continue until the end of the year.

In an interview on his arrival at Greater Buffalo International Airport, Rabin said that Israel is playing a waiting game in its relations with the Arab states.

Israel will never completely eliminate the Arab terrorists as long as the Arab countries continue to sponsor and support them, he said. However, the steps taken against the terrorists have been effective and these groups can no longer "threaten Israel's security."

Both sides are now suffering from the effects of the limited war, he said, in different ways. The question which would decide the issue, however, was not how much you did suffer, but how much you would suffer.

"The war is going to last until one side comes to the conclusion that the price it is paying is too high," Rabin said. "For us the price can not be too high, for we are fighting for survival."

Face Loss

Israel, he said, was not a threat to the existence of Arab nations as nations, or to Arabs as individuals. However, the Israelis face the possibility of the loss of their national identity.

"Both sides are suffering and both sides have to wait the other side out," Rabin said. "We are fighting for more than they are, and we think that will give us longer breath," he added.

Committee for State of Israel Bonds in Hotel Statler Hilton.

"Only Israel's military strength prevents war," said Rabin who was a major-general in the victorious Israeli armed forces in the Six-Day War.

He took a dim view of the United Nations' peace-keeping ability because of the composition of the 15-member Security Council.

Security Tight

"One-third of the members of the Security Council are either at war with Israel or don't have diplomatic relations with Israel," the ambassador said.

A security detail of Buffalo private agency police were on duty in and outside the Golden Ballroom where the dinner was held.

It was learned, but unconfirmed by official sources, that protective precautions were taken for the 47-year-old ambassador's air trip and stay in Buffalo. The crew on the jet in which he traveled from Washington to Buffalo was unaware an ambassador was aboard.

Mideast Outlook Bleak, Rabin Says

The prospect of peace in the Middle East is bleak because the Soviet Union supports the Arab states, Yitzhak Rabin, the Israeli ambassador to the U.S., said here Sunday night.

Rabin, ambassador for 18 months and Israel's former military chief, maintained that his country is not nearly ready, regardless of protracted conflict with the United Arab Republic.

Fund-Raising Dinner

"It doesn't look to me that there is a possibility of peace, a real one in the near future," Rabin said at a fund-raising dinner sponsored by the Buffalo

RE: YITZHAK RABIN, ISRAELI AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES

On February 17, 1970 [REDACTED]

Sacramento Police Department, Intelligence Unit, advised that the Ambassador arrived in Sacramento on United Airlines Flight #877 at 10:55 a.m., which flight originated in Portland, Oregon, and had one stop in Reno, Nevada.

[REDACTED] stated that the Ambassador and his party lunched and had some free time until about 3:00 p.m., when they toured the Capitol area and had an audience with Governor Reagan. After this they went to the Woodlake Inn for dinner and a speech by the Ambassador before approximately 450 people attending the 120th anniversary celebration of B'nai Israel of Sacramento.

[REDACTED] noted that 15 protesters calling themselves the American Committee for Justice in the Middle East picketed the hotel at this time. He advised that the group was composed of neatly-clad housewives and their children and some students. He stated that the demonstration was quiet and caused little disturbance. He advised that the picket signs protested Israeli violence but noted that the guests of the Inn did not respond other than to be curious concerning the signs.

[REDACTED] advised further that the Ambassador met with the State Senate on February 18, 1970, and he departed Sacramento around 10:00 a.m. via chartered private aircraft from Executive Airport enroute to San Jose, California.

(OO: Bureau)

Re Albany airtel Bureau 2/25/70.

The 4/5/70 issue of the Sunday "Herald American", Syracuse, New York, page 57, discloses that Lt. General YITZHAK RABIN, Israel's Ambassador to the United States, will be the guest speaker at 7:30 PM, 4/11/70, in Temple Beth El at the opening dinner of the Syracuse Jewish Welfare Federation's 1970 Drive.

The article noted that Rabbi IRWIN HYMAN, Honorary Campaign Chairman, will be cited for many years of leadership to the Jewish community. It was noted that RABIN's earlier visit in 2/70, had to be cancelled because of his illness.

Appropriate sources have been alerted and the Bureau and interested offices will be kept advised of developments.

On 4/16/70 [redacted] Syracuse, N.Y., Police Department, stated that he was a member of the protection detail concerning Ambassador RABIN's visit to Syracuse, N.Y., on 4/11-12/70. [redacted] stated that RABIN arrived in Syracuse, N.Y., on the afternoon of 4/11/70, by company plane furnished by Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. Thereafter, he addressed the Syracuse Jewish Welfare Federation at the kickoff of its 1970 fund drive at the Hotel Syracuse. [redacted] noted that in one hour $421,000 was raised. RABIN remained overnight at the Hotel Syracuse and departed via American Airlines on the morning of 4/12/70, for St. Louis, Missouri.

[redacted] stated that there were no incidents and no problems arose as a result of RABIN's visit. [redacted] determined in conversation with RABIN's male secretary, who accompanied the Ambassador, that RABIN expected to return to Syracuse, N.Y., for a speaking engagement at Syracuse University in four to six weeks.

Israeli Ambassador:

Mideast Peace Bleak Prospect

By MIKE ZAVADIL

"The only factor that can deter the war in the Middle East," said the Israeli ambassador to the United States here last night, "is Israel's military strength."

"As long as the Arab nations are unwilling to make peace, I don't believe peace will be achieved," Ambassador Yitshak Rabin said.

"If one is to be realistic, the prospects for peace at present are very bleak, very small."

Rabin spoke at a dinner meeting of the Rochester Israel Bond Committee in Temple Beth El. The meeting marked the 20th year of the bond campaign and the celebration of the 22nd year of Israeli independence.

Earlier in the evening, the bond committee honored Leon M. Germanow of 1400 East Ave. as "man of the year." Germanow, president of Germanow-Simon Machine Co., Inc., was chairman of Israeli bond campaigns for 1966 and 1967. He is past president of the United Jewish Welfare Fund of Rochester, a member of its board of directors, and is active in other Jewish community institutions.

Mayor Stephen May presented Ambassador Rabin a key to the city, describing him as a "champion of Israel's freedom."

The ambassador underlined his nation's desire for reconciliation and the uniqueness of the Middle East conflict. "I can't recall any other example in which one side tries to bring the total destruction of the other side while the other side tries to bring about peaceful accommodation."

And, he said, only the nations of the Middle East can resolve the crisis that exploded into six days of open warfare almost three years ago.

"We believe that only the Arab countries and Israel once they decide to put aside war, would achieve peace. Only they can put an end to the war."

Israeli Ambassador Hopes U.S. Won't Cut Off Aid

ITZHAK RABIN

Israel's ambassador to the United States said yesterday in Rochester he hopes the "United States won't be blackmailed by a dictator" and cut off military aid to Israel.

Itzhak Rabin said in an interview at Monroe County Airport that he believes United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser "is now telling the United States that to continue military aid to Israel would have dangerous consequences for decades to come."

Rabin, here to address a Rochester Israel Bond Committee dinner at Temple Beth El in Brighton, said, "I hope the United States won't be blackmailed by a dictator who doesn't want peace ~~as a war of~~ attrition and whose personal goal is to crush Israel.

"And I fail to believe the Soviet Union is interested in real peace either "

Rabin conceded the presence of Russian pilots flying for the Egyptian Air Force has not been confirmed

But he added, "There is no doubt that they are flying Egyptian planes "

Rabin cited remarks three days ago by Soviet Premier Aleksei N Kosygin who "didn't confirm the pilots' presence, but he didn't deny it either "

The ambassador pointed to the presence of more than 5,000 Soviet technicians and soldiers in Egypt and sophisticated ground-to-air missiles in

Arab nations as evidence of Soviet intervention

At the dinner, Leon W Germanow, 1400 East Ave, president of Germanow-Simon Machine Co, Inc, was honored as the bond committee's "Man of the Year " Germanow was chairman for Israel Bonds in Rochester in 1966-67 and is a past president of the United Jewish Welfare Fund of Rochester.

He also is president of the Jewish Home and Infirmary, serves on the boards of the Jewish Council Community Council of Rochester and Western New York Region of the Anti-Defamation League and is a member of temples Beth El and B'rith Kodesh.

Rabin, before becoming ambassador to this country, was the chief architect of Israeli strategy in the 1967 Six-Day War

The ambassador stated Israel's main aim is peace, but with security. He added that within the context of peace, formal boundaries would have to be created

Re WFO airtel to the Bureau dated 10/23/70.

On 10/27/70, [redacted] Evanston
Police Dept., Evanston, Ill., advised that either the "professional Arab-Americans" or the Association of Arab-American University Graduates, Inc.(AAAUG) planned to hold a "silent vigil" outside Cahn Auditorium at Northwestern University during the period when Ambassador RABIN will be speaking on 10/30/70. He advised that no violence was expected.

It is noted that during the period Ambassador RABIN plans to be in Chicago, the AAAUG is holding their national convention at Northwestern University. Logical established sources of the Chicago Office have been alerted to the proximity of the above groups and to the possible demonstration. No incidents are foreseen during this period, however, Chicago will maintain close coverage of both of the above meetings and will immediately report any incidents which may occur.

Appropriate agencies notified.

Re Chicago airtel to Bureau dated 10/28/70.

On 10/30/70, [redacted]

[redacted] Evanston Police Department, Evanston, Illinois, advised that the demonstration mentioned in referenced airtel was held in front of Cahn Auditorium, Northwestern University. He stated that approximately 50 persons carrying a banner worded "Free Palestine" quietly stood from 3:45 pm until 4:15 pm on 10/30/70. He further advised that there was no violence and that no arrests were made.

Agents of the Chicago Office also covered this demonstration and found it extremely peaceful. Observations revealed that the group demonstrating was the "Association of Arab-American University Graduates, Inc." (AAAUG), which was holding its National Convention nearby.

Re WFO airtel to Bureau, 11/10/70; Chicago airtel to Bureau, 11/16/70.

On 11/16/70, the News Dispatch, a Michigan City, Indiana daily newspaper reported on page one RABIN, a soldier-diplomat, had made a speech on 11/15/70 at the 17th Sinai Forum held at the Sinai Temple. According to the article which was captioned "Israeli Ambassador Lists 'Peace Formula' at Forum," RABIN gave the Israeli point of view of the chances of peace in the Middle East. The article further noted RABIN was introduced by RICHARD ROSENBERG, Executive Vice-President of Josam Manufacturing Company, who first met RABIN in 1949 during a tour of service by ROSENBERG in Israel.

As RABIN apparently made his speech and left the Indianapolis Division without incident this matter is considered RUC'd.

(MIDEAST)

TEL AVIV--ISRAELI AMBASSADOR YITZHAK RABIN FLEW BACK TO WASHINGTON TODAY FOR PRELIMINARY DISCUSSIONS WITH U.S. OFFICIALS ON ISRAEL'S RETURN TO THE MIDDLE EAST PEACE TALKS. AT THE SAME TIME, ISRAEL ACCUSED EGYPT OF AGAIN VIOLATING THE CEASE-FIRE BY BUILDING NEW ANTI-AIRCRAFT MISSILE BASES NEAR THE SUEZ CANAL.

RABIN SAID HIS TALKS WOULD LAY THE GROUNDWORK FOR DEFENSE MINISTER MOSHE DAYAN'S MEETINGS WITH TOP NIXON ADMINISTRATION OFFICIALS IN WASHINGTON IN MID-DECEMBER.

IN CAIRO, NEW SYRIAN STRONGMAN LT. GEN. HAFEZ ASSAD TOLD THE NEWSPAPER AL AKHBAR THAT HIS TALKS WITH EGYPTIAN OFFICIALS HAD LED TO "EFFECTIVE STEPS TOWARDS STRENGTHENING THE EASTERN FRONT" WITH ISRAEL. ASSAD, WHO SEIZED POWER IN DAMASCUS LAST NOV. 13, ALSO SAID HIS REGIME WANTED TO STRENGTHEN ITS RELATIONS WITH THE OTHER ARAB STATES AND WITH THE SOVIET UNION AND THE SOCIALIST COUNTRIES.

AN ISRAELI SPOKESMAN SAID HIS GOVERNMENT'S 26TH COMPLAINT OF EGYPTIAN VIOLATIONS SINCE THE ORIGINAL CEASE-FIRE WENT INTO EFFECT ON AUG. 7 WAS LODGED WITH U.N. OFFICIALS IN JERUSALEM. HE SAID THE LATEST "GRAVE VIOLATIONS" WERE DISCOVERED ON FRIDAY.

"ACCORDING TO INFORMATION WHICH REACHED THE ISRAEL DEFENSE FORCES ON NOV. 27, CONSTRUCTION AND OTHER PREPARATORY WORK WAS BEGUN ON THE EGYPTIAN SIDE OF THE SUEZ CANAL ON NEW SITES FOR GROUND-TO-AIR MISSILES," THE SPOKESMAN SAID. "IN SO DOING, THE EGYPTIANS VIOLATED THE CEASE-FIRE."

HOWEVER, ISRAELI POLITICAL SOURCES SAID THEY DID NOT EXPECT THE NEW CHARGES WOULD CHANGE ISRAEL'S POSITION ON RESUMING THE PEACE TALKS UNDER THE AUSPICES OF U.N. MEDIATOR GUNNAR V. JARRING.

that some persons were expected from out-of-town to participate in the demonstration against the Israeli Bond Drive. He stated that the "Christ the King Church," 25 West Jackson, Chicago, Illinois, would open its doors at twelve hundred hours on December 9, 1970 as a meeting place for those participants coming in from out-of-town.

On December 9, 1970, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] Hilton Hotel, 720 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, advised that there would be 35 patrolmen from the Chicago Police Department on duty during the demonstration with more standing by if necessary. He stated that all rooms at the hotel used by Ambassador Rabin and for the Israeli Bond Dinner were being fully checked by the Chicago Police Department at 4:00 p.m. prior to occupancy.

b7C

On December 9, 1970, an employee of the Federal Bureau of Investigation observed the demonstration and counter-demonstration held at the Hilton Hotel, 720 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. At 5:05 p.m., a group of approximately thirty-five young people bearing two large flags carrying the slogans, "Zionism is Jewish National Liberation" and "Israel is Only Progressive Force in Middle East," started demonstrating at the Hilton Hotel. They carried various other placards stating "Israel Will Live" and carrying the Star of David. One placard was noted carrying the above slogan on one side and "Jewish Defense League" on the other.

Various young people handed out literature near this group. One leaflet advised that "Zionism is Jewish National Liberation" and expressed a desire to show solidarity with Israel. It was signed, "Chicago Union of Jewish Students." Another leaflet requested that the United States get out of Viet Nam and the Middle East and allow people in both places to have self-determination. It was signed, "Hashomer Hatzair - Socialist Zionist Youth Movement." This group disbanded at 6:50 p.m.

At 5:20 p.m., a group of approximately forty persons started demonstrating on another section of the sidewalk in front of the Hilton Hotel. By 5:30 p.m., this group had grown to about one hundred persons. They shouted various slogans and carried various placards, all attempting to show solidarity with the Palestinian cause. Two leaflets were also handed out by young people near this group. One of these contained various slogans and ideology consistent with the Palestinian viewpoint and was signed by the "Anti-Imperialist Committee." The other leaflet advertised a demonstration to take place on December 30, 1970 to "fight racist unemployment" and was put out by the Students for a Democratic Society/Worker Student Alliance (SDS/WSA). This leaflet also advised that the SDS National Convention was to be held on December 27-30, 1970 in Chicago, Illinois.

PLOT TO ASSASSINATE YITZHAK RABIN
ISRAELI AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES

A characterization of the SDS/WSA is attached to this communication in the appendix pages.

This group demonstrated until 7:00 p.m. and then went across Michigan Avenue and held a fifteen-minute meeting prior to breaking up about 7:10 p.m.

No incidents occurred during the above demonstration; and no arrests were made.

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

Students for a Democratic Society, commonly known as SDS, came into existence at a founding convention held during June, 1962, at Port Huron, Michigan. From an initial posture of "participatory democracy," Marxist-Leninist ideology of various shadings became predominant during 1968-1969 with debate centering on how best to create a revolutionary youth movement. SDS moved from involvement in the civil rights struggle to an anti-Vietnam war position to advocacy of a militant anti-imperialist line linking up the oppressed peoples of Asia, Africa and Latin America with the black liberation movement in the United States. All major factions within SDS embrace Marxism-Leninism and identify internationally with China, Cuba and North Vietnam as countries leading the worldwide struggles against the United States. However, the Soviet Union was regarded as imperialist and with the Communist Party, United States of America, "revisionist" in nature.

SDS operated under a national constitution which called for an annual National Convention (NC) and quarterly National Council meetings wherein programs were initiated and debated. Three national officers were elected annually with a National Interim Committee to run the organization. Regional offices and college chapters elected delegates to the national meetings but each functioned independently on local matters. Its official publication "Fire" (formerly "New Left Notes") last appeared in December, 1969.

Internal factionalism of serious proportions developed during 1968-1969 and the following three factions evolved as a result of a split at the June, 1969, NC: Weatherman, Worker Student Alliance (WSA), and Revolutionary Youth Movement (RYM). The effect of the split on SDS chapters throughout the country was divisive. Some aligned with one or the other of the three major factions. Others, unable to identify with any faction, disassociated with SDS completely and changed names.

The SDS national office in recent years was located at 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois. It was closed in February, 1970.

The Weatherman and RYM groups no longer consider themselves associated with SDS, and the WSA group refers to itself as the true SDS.

Cabinet Post Set For Rabin

Israeli Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin will return to Jerusalem in the fall to become minister of development in the cabinet of Prime Minister Golda Meir.

Reliable sources in Washington confirmed a report in yesterday's editions of the Israeli newspaper Yedioth Ahronoth that Rabin would return in October to fill the cabinet post.

The newspaper said there were three candidates to succeed Rabin—Yakov Herzog, chief of the prime minister's bureau, Mordechai Gazit, deputy director general of the foreign ministry, and Aviezer Chelouche, a banker who formerly served in the foreign ministry.

Rabin, who has been in Washington since February 1968, has been criticized by some members of his government in recent months for sharing the American view that Israel should be more flexible in its pursuit of peace. Rabin is a lieutenant general and was chief of staff of the Israeli armed forces at the time of the six-day war in June 1967.

The second-ranking Israeli diplomat in Washington, Shlomo Argov, is also leaving. Argov has been named Israel's ambassador to Mexico.

Memorandum

TO : SY/PrS

DATE: August 27, 1971

FROM : SY/PrS

SUBJECT: PROTECTIVE ASSISTANCE: Alleged Plot to Kidnap Ambassador Rabin of Israel

Reference is made to previous memoranda this office with date of August 1971 and concerning the above Subject.

Yesterday, August 26, at approximately 5:00 p.m. information as set forth below was received in the form of a typed note from a representative of the Israeli Embassy; this information is indicated as additional to that previously reported by the said Embassy:

As you will note, no dates or specific point of entry were either reflected in the said note or provided by the Embassy representative.

A check of the appropriate records of the Department on this date in the names indicated above disclosed no information concerning same.

The above information including results of the records check was passed this date to [redacted] of the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) for whatever action deemed appropriate.

Re: Organization of Arab Students -
Demonstration Against Israeli
Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin,
Detroit, Michigan,
January 23, 1969

A source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on January 23, 1969, that the Israeli Ambassador to the United States, General Yitzhak Rabin, is scheduled to appear at 8:00 p.m. that date before a gathering of Jewish individuals from the Detroit area who have been major contributors to Israeli causes. His appearance was being sponsored in Detroit by the Jewish Welfare Federation, 163 Madison Avenue, Detroit, Michigan. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] the information regarding his appearance did appear in "The South End", official student newspaper at Wayne State University (WSU), Detroit.

On January 23, 1969, the above source advised that the Arab American Congress for Palestine, Iranian Student Organization, Organization of Arab Students, and the Young Socialist Alliance have plans to conduct a protest demonstration at the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel, Detroit, beginning at 7:00 p.m. on January 23, 1969, to coincide with the appearance of Ambassador Rabin at this hotel. The demonstration was to protest the Ambassador's presence in Detroit, to protest Israeli aggression and to protest for a free and whole Palestine.

ENCLOSURE

Re: Organization of Arab Students -
Demonstration Against Israeli
Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin,
Detroit, Michigan, January 23, 1969

A second source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on May 2, 1968, that "The South End" is the official Wayne State University school newspaper. This source advised that the contents of this newspaper indicate that it is dedicated to black militancy and subversive organizations, generally associated with the "New Left", such as the Students for a Democratic Society and the Young Socialist Alliance.

A characterization of the Young Socialist Alliance appears in the appendix attached hereto.

The second source above advised on November 26, 1968, that the Arab Student Association, which is sometimes called the Organization of Arab Students, is an officially recognized campus organization at WSU. Detroit. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) observed that a picket line type demonstration commenced on the sidewalk near the Washington Boulevard entrance to the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel in downtown Detroit at 7:10 p.m. on January 23, 1969. Approximately 75 individuals were participating in this picket line demonstration when it began and this number had grown to approximately 125 by 8:35 p.m. when the demonstration ceased.

A leaflet was handed out to individuals passing by the demonstration. This leaflet was captioned "Rabin's Israel" and it identifies the sponsors of the demonstration as the Arab American Congress for Palestine, Iranian Student Organization, Organization of Arab Students, The South End, and the Young Socialist Alliance. The leaflet stated the purpose of the protest and concluded with the comment "Revolution Until Victory." A copy of this leaflet is attached hereto.

Re: Organization of Arab Students -
Demonstration Against Israeli
Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin,
Detroit, Michigan, January 23, 1969

Several of the demonstrators carried placards, some of which read as follows:

"Israelism, European Settler State"
"Till Liberation Comes I'll Resist"
"Viva The Palestinian Resistance"
"We Shall Fight For Our Land"
"Zionism - Nazism"
"Israel South African Racism"
"Pay $100 A Plate to Napalm Women and Children"
"Shalom and Napalm"
"Israel Uber Alles"
"Zionism Is Racism"

A fourth source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on January 24, 1969, that the protest demonstration against Ambassador Rabin was organized by the Organization of Arab Students; and although the Young Socialist Alliance appeared as a joint sponsor, the leadership of the Young Socialist Alliance actually volunteered to help in the demonstration providing the Organization of Arab Students was not able to provide enough participants in the demonstration. This source said that some Detroit Young Socialist Alliance members actually proceeded to the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel at the time the demonstration was scheduled, but they did not participate because it appeared that the Organization of Arab Students had been successful in gathering

APPENDIX

YOUNG SOCIALIST ALLIANCE

The May, 1960, issue of the "Young Socialist" (YS), Page 1, Column 3, disclosed that during April 15-17, 1960, a national organization entitled "The Young Socialist Alliance" (YSA) was established at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. This issue stated that this organization was formed by the nationwide supporter clubs of the publication YS.

The above issue, page 6, set forth the Founding Declaration of the YSA. This declaration stated that the YSA recognizes the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) as the only existing political leadership on class struggle principles, and that the supporters of the YS have come into basic political solidarity with the SWP on the principles of revolutionary socialism.

On March 10, 1967, a source advised that the YSA was formed during 1957, by youth of various left socialist tendencies, particularly members and followers of the SWP. The source further advised that the YSA has recently become more open about admitting that it is the youth group of the SWP and that an SWP representative has publicly stated that the YSA is the SWP's youth group.

The National Headquarters of the YSA are located in Room 532-536, 41 Union Square West, New York City.

On October 31, 1967, a second source advised that at the 22nd National Convention of the SWP held in New York City from October 26, 1967, to October 29, 1967, it was stated that the YSA remained as the main recruiting ground for new SWP members.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

Rabin's Israel

The one and half million Palestinian people who were evicted from their own land, Palestine, and those who are oppressed by Israeli occupation forces are the natural and rightful owners of Palestine. They alone have the right to determine their own destiny without the intervention of any guardianship or mandatory powers.

Furthermore, the Palestinian people are part of the Arab world. They are the vanguards of the Arab masses in the common struggle for national survival and liberation from imperialism whose main base in the Third World is Israel.

Israel is a Zionist settler state that was created by Western imperialism. Its apartheid structure and racist settler state structure parallel that of South Africa, Rhodesia, and Angola, to name a few. Israel is also an expansionist state; the last attack on Beirut's International Airport is merely one of the many many manifestations of Israel's nature.

Rabin, ex. general chief of staff of the Israeli army and its commander during its 1967 aggression on the Arab world, is now its ambassador to the United States. His contribution to the Haganah that massacred many villages with Palestinian population is indicative of the colonialist and racist basis of the Zionist state.

We protest his presence in Detroit.

We denounced the existence of the Zionist racist Israel.

We stand in solidarity with the Palestinian Revolution and the Palestinian Freedom Fighters.

We stand in solidarity with the revolution of all oppressed people and their struggle against imperialism.

REVOLUTION UNTIL VICTORY.

Biographical Sketch

On January 2, 1944, Yitzhak Rabin was appointed
In personality, training and interests, Lieutenant General Yitzhak Rabin belongs to the generation whose task it has been first to win and later to defend Israel's freedom. Born in Jerusalem in 1922, son of American pioneer Zionists, Yitzhak Rabin's schooling was such as to prepare him for a career of pioneer farming. He graduated with honors from the Kadoorie Agricultural School in Lower Galilee and shortly thereafter enlisted in the Palmach, the crack units of the Haganah (the underground citizen army of the organized Jewish community in Mandatory days), to fulfill his national defence service. This period was to last for 27 years, in which he was to rise from underground fighter to Chief of Staff of the Israel Defence Forces and Commander of the Israel Army in the Six Day War.

In 1944 Yitzhak Rabin was promoted deputy battalion commander in the Palmach. Two years later he was arrested by the British authorities and held for several months. At the end of 1947, with the outbreak of the hostilities that were to culminate in the War of Independence Yitzhak Rabin was appointed Deputy Commander of the Palmach. His major role in the War of Independence was as Commander of the Palmach Har-El (Mount of God) Brigade which was to play a crucial part in the defence of Jerusalem and the lifting of the siege.

In the second phase of the War of Independence Rabin served as second in command at Southern Command Headquarters and took part in the campaigns for the liberation of the Negev and the Red Sea port of Eilat.

In 1949, as a member of the Israeli delegation, he participated in the armistice negotiations with the Egyptians at Rhodes.

In 1953, he concluded a year of studies at the Camberley Staff College of Great Britain. On returning to Israel he was appointed head of the Training Branch at General Headquarters, and in December 1954, was promoted to the rank of Aluf (Brigadier-General).

His next assignment was to the Northern Command, which he headed from 1956 to 1959. At the end of 1960, he was named Deputy Chief of Staff. In this role and until his appointment as Chief of the General Staff in January 1964, he made various visits abroad with the purpose of becoming acquainted with the armed services of other countries.

On January 1, 1964, Yitzhak Rabin was appointed Chief of the General Staff and promoted to the rank of Rav Aluf (Major General).

In common with so many of his contemporaries, Rav Aluf Rabin assumed his military tasks in response to the needs of the times rather than as a life's calling. Brilliant strategist and hardened combatant, there is little that is martial about his personality. He looks upon his military career as a national service in the deepest sense, borne of his commitment to the welfare security of the land he helped rebuild. This is illustrated by his words at a ceremony on June 28, 1967, shortly after the Six Day War, when the Hebrew University of Jerusalem bestowed on him the degree of Honorary Doctor of Philosophy: "I regard myself there as the representative of the entire Israel Defence Forces...Our warriors prevailed not by their weapons but by their sense of mission, by the consciousness of the rightness of their cause, by a deep love for their country and an understanding of the difficult task laid upon them: to ensure the existence of our people in its homeland, to protect, even at the price of their lives, the right of the Jewish people to live in its own state, free, independent and in peace."

In July 1968 Major General Rabin was promoted to Lieutenant General in the reserves.

Rav Aluf Rabin is married and has two teen-aged children.

On 10/9/69 [redacted]
Bureau. Detroit PD. advised that he had been contacted [redacted]
American Jewish Committee

(AJC) [redacted] advised that the National Executive Board meeting of the AJC is to be held at the Pontchartrain Hotel, Detroit, Mich., 10/24-26/69. The agenda for this meeting lists the Honorable YITZHAK RABIN, Ambassador of Israel to the U.S., as the special guest for the luncheon session at 12:30 p.m., on 10/26/69.

[redacted] stated that [redacted] that the AJC is concerned that recent information indicates a possibility of Arab activity directed against prominent Jews and/or Jewish institutions in the U.S. Because of the large Arab community in Detroit, the AJC was concerned that some type of action may be taken during the Ambassador's visit to Detroit. [redacted] said that the Detroit PD will take steps to offer protection to Ambassador RABIN.

Detroit is alerting logical Arab sources to report any information regarding any demonstrations scheduled to coincide

Supplement
May 12, 1972.

Diplomat Yitzhak Rabin has a negative opinion about career diplomacy.

It is doubtful whether Mr. Abba Eban who is, at least from the point of view of protocol, Rabin's direct boss, would enjoy his definitions on this subject. Says Rabin: "Professional diplomacy has degenerated completely, the best proof for that is the U.N., which is no more than a demagogic discussion group which the world got used to. Rabin believes that direct factual talk is more useful and is more appreciated than diplomatic mumbling, be it ever so polished."

Rabin makes it pretty clear that he is not a career diplomat and that in his opinion Israel's foreign policy is too important to be left in the hands of career diplomats, who graduated from the seminar of the Foreign Ministry and whose minds are restricted to diplomatic ceremony.

Rabin's opinion as to the necessary training for an Israeli diplomat is anchored in his military past. "It is preferable that an Israeli representative should come from a world of action and should think in terms of deeds. Military experience comprises many fields of activity, leadership, explanation (public relations), education to orderly thinking to some purpose. In the Army there is one yard-stick - results. If career diplomacy brings results - I am for it."

The Israel Embassy in Washington - to use metaphors - reminds you of a fighting unit, sitting for long periods of time at the front line, with the men making fun of those serving in the rear. Yitzhak Rabin and his senior staff are not exactly modest in their evaluation of their status and achievements. They let it be understood that they carry successfully the main burden of Israel's foreign policy in the capital which is most important for Israel, and if U.S. arms keep flowing to Israel it is to a large extent to be chalked up to their credit. Our men in Washington have feelings of superiority towards the Foreign Ministry in Jerusalem and a somewhat negative feeling towards the

ENCLOSURE

Israeli mission to the U.N. They do not attach a great deal of importance to what goes on in New York and are rather amused by the sensitivity shown by Israeli circles in Washington and Jerusalem about what the NEW YORK TIMES has to say. 'Interfering' is a dirty word in the dictionary of the Embassy staff, and the Israel mission to the U.N. is, in their opinion, mainly engaged in meddling. One of the senior members of the Embassy staff told me: "Until Rabin came, the Embassy in Washington was something like a branch office of the Jewish Agency. When a serious problem arose, it was customary to activate important Jews to go to the Administration and do their best for Israel. Rabin stopped that. There is an Embassy and there is an Administration, with no interfering Jews in between.

The diplomatic staff of the Embassy numbers 25 and, together with administrative personnel the staff comes to 75. The Jordanian Embassy in Washington has 7 people, and Lebanon 3. Egypt, which has no diplomatic relations with the U.S., has 25 people in Washington, and a similar number of Americans are in Cairo. The American Embassy in Tel Aviv has more than 200 people. As to the Israeli diplomatic staff, only a minority are permanently employed by the Foreign Ministry. The majority has been 'borrowed from outside'. Possibly this is also one of the reasons for the demonstrative relationship of 'unimportance' towards Jerusalem. It is natural that a certain amount of tension should exist between the people who serve 'on the spot', where things happen, and those who sit pretty far away at headquarters. However, one gets the impression that a large part of the diplomatic staff of the Embassy is influenced by Rabin's views on practical diplomacy and means of implementation, and the people serving in Washington would like the Foreign Ministry in Jerusalem to adapt itself more to those views. They are convinced that the results achieved in Washington during the last three years have justified the approach and working method of Rabin. What seems to them important and decisive does not always appear so to Jerusalem. As an example one member of the Embassy tells this story: After many efforts I succeeded in interesting an important Senator to visit Israel. When I informed Jerusalem about it and asked to take care of accommodating him etc. they replied by cable that the hotels are full up and there is no room for him."

As far as can be judged from staying a few hours at the Embassy and talking with people, there is no tension between those who came from the Foreign Ministry and those who were lent to the Foreign Ministry for foreign service and are employed on the basis of ^(temporary) special/contracts. It looks to the visitor as if full harmony exists between the people, the atmosphere is good, like one big happy family. The entire staff appreciate and admire Yitzhak Rabin. One senior official of the Foreign Ministry who serves in Washington defined him as an unusual personality and a wonderful mixture of a military man and a diplomat.

Yitzhak Rabin came to Washington with one purpose in mind: to turn the U.S. into Israel's main arms supplier. The only subject that has his full attention is Israel's security. All other occupations, routine functions, are regarded by Rabin as being of secondary importance - says one of the senior workers of the Embassy. Rabin himself emphasizes: 'Israel's foreign policy has to be subordinate to our security needs. The U.S. considers Israel's problems from the viewpoint of her security.' Under the influence of Rabin and under his guidance, the main activities of the Embassy are directed at achieving concrete results which will increase Israel's security and strengthen her ability to stand fast in the peace campaign, or in the battlefield, should the need arise.

Rabin introduced at the Embassy a working method appropriate to the needs and the problems as they arise, and he is not prepared to be subjected to routine and permanency. Staff meetings, for instance, are not fixed and are held only when Rabin finds it necessary to convene his people and talk with them.

Even then he only gives general guidelines and leaves the smaller details to his staff. In Rabin's office there is no table for staff meetings, and each of those present brought his chair along.

As another example of lack of routine at the Embassy one mentions the cessation of the publication of the well-known bulletin of the Embassy, which at the time aroused a great deal of interest in the diplomatic community in Washington and many foreign correspondents in the city. The bulletin, which was called "the pink bulletin" because it was printed on pink-colored paper, appeared the last time in June 1971. Mr. Shaul Ben Haim, press attache, explains: Since then it did not appear. Rabin does not want a publication that would tell about Israel's period of milk and honey and citrus fruit, and the recipient would throw it straight into the waste-paper basket. The bulletin, which Rabin initiated, was at the time one of the most credible and popular publications in Washington because of the nature and value of the background material that was published in it. Among other things there was a sharp article ~~in the~~ bulletin against the Rogers Plan a few days after the plan became known.

Everyone of the members of the staff enjoys freedom of action in his field of activity. Rabin believes in team work and hardly intervenes in ~~the~~ current daily work of the Embassy. He prefers to concentrate on one subject, or one problem, and leaves the rest of the work to his staff. His people say that to work with him is pleasant and easygoing and one learn a great deal from him. His door is always open and one can always walk into his office, if someone needs his advice or a decision on a certain matter.

-5- Quiet, matter-of-fact Eli Ze'ira (the Military Attache) likes the idea that the Ambassador is an ex-military man; it makes his own job much easier, he says; there is no need for long explanations. Zeira cannot go into details of his work, but he says that procurement approvals are not easy to get; sometimes, it takes long arguments to persuade the Americans that this or that item is just what Israel needs.

Zvi ~~Burak~~ Brosh, ~~maxima~~ founder and first commandant of the IDF broadcasting station/ and former Ambassador in Rangoon and in Ceylon, as Minister for Information, joined the Embassy two years ago/ He shares in the general atmosphere of satisfaction and is not prepared to accept the view that Israel's information activities are inadequate. There are such things as priorities, he points out, and it may be important what the students and liberals say about Israel, but other things are still more important. If 78 Senators and ~~more than~~ more than half of the House signed the declaration in support of aircraft supplies to Israel, that is the result of effective information. The task of Israeli information in the US, Brosh says, is mainly to influence Administration decisions indirectly.

Contact with the 250 American and more than hundred foreign journalists in Washington are the business of Shaul Ben-Haim, who is on loan to the Foreign Ministry from MAARIV. He has his abode full with the fifty phone calls a day the Embassy receives from journalists. Rabin is very popular with the Washington press and is often asked for interviews. He does not get excited about articles against or in favor of Israel, and has given orders not to write letters to the editor about the unfavorable ones; there will always be a different article the next day anyhow. Still, Ben Shaul estimates that five out of six articles about the Middle East in the major American papers are in Israel's favor, and is proud of it.

Rabin's press conferences for foreign correspondents -- usually twice a year -- are an attraction; the last one drew 90 journalists, while an Egyptian diplomat had an audience of 40 and Sisco one of 50. Rabin often lectures to senior American officers and at military academies and bases. As a former Chief of Staff and the general of the Six Day War, he is regarded as an authority on military affairs and on the Israeli-Arab issue, and his speeches are regarded as major events.

He has become closely befriended with Joseph Sisco, Assistant Secretary of State for the Middle East. They regularly meet for lunch, unofficially; Rabin will invite Sisco to a little restaurant near the Embassy; if Sisco is the host, he takes Rabin to a private club of which he is a member. They call each other by their first names. On his last birthday, Sisco took Rabin the Rabins to the ball game. They like each other and trust each other personally, but -- as one of the Embassy people is at pains to point out -- their friendship does not mean that they insist any less on their respective positions when they meet unofficially or officially. "I have read the report on one of their talks, and believe me,, it was a harsh, unbending dialogue."

Life There is little glamor about the life of an Israeli diplomat in Washington. The salary does not permit lavish entertaining, and also, Rabin does not think social relations with diplomats very important; "I am accredited to the United States, not to the corps diplomatique.. My job is to seek closer contacts with the Americans, not with foreign diplomats."

The atmosphere at the Embassy is almost as quiet as at a successful

ful bank that is proud of its balance sheet. Rabin and his staff make no secret of their satisfaction with the present state of relations between the US and Israel. It is perhaps no coincidence that Rabin's desk is completely empty. "At this stage I am out of a job. All our requests have been granted. Relations between Israel and the US in practical terms have never been better than they are now. I can't say that this is the maximum, but our situation here is better than it has ever been.. Because of my past, I am sensitive. In the IDF, we say that the enemy of a good situation is a very good situation. But I am definitively pleased with what we have achieved." In the last three years, Rabin points out, Israel has obtained $ 900 million in loans and guarantees for arms purchases from the US. For the first time in 15 years, Israel has been given a grant of $ 50 million. The Administration has already included a loan of $ 300 m. and another grant of $50 m. in next year's estimates.

Rabin is not worried about what Israel has to expect from the Moscow talks. "Israel's nervousness is natural, but the concern is unjustified. The US is against an imposed solution in the Middle East, and I see no reason not to trust the Americans." Is he, as has been said in Israel, too strongly pro-Republican? "Israel must adopt policy of saying thank you. That does not mean that we must tie ourselves hand and foot, but we must be grateful. What interests me is who has given ~~what~~ what to Israel, and I help those who help Israel." On the subject of peace and territories, Rabin says the ball is in the Egyptian court, but he adds: "Better security without peace, than peace without security."

Rabin refuses to comment on reports that he has been asked to stay on till March 1973, but relaxed as he is, one gets the impression that he wants to go home. He is definitively satisfied with the results of his time in Washington. Now, with things running as they should, he apparently thinks that his time as Ambassador in Washington is over.

Re Chicago airtel to the Bureau dated 2/28/73,

On 3/8/73, YITZHAK RABIN, Israeli Ambassador to the US, visited Chicago as set forth in referenced airtel.
Security was provided by the Chicago Police Department, as well as by Ambassador RABIN's personal bodyguard and all pertinent agencies of the US Government were aware of his presence in Chicago on that date.

Ambassador RABIN visited the Bernard Horwitz
Jewish Community Center in Chicago and then attended an Israeli bond rally at the Hilton Hotel. He returned to Washington, D. C. on the same date.

No disturbances occurred during Ambassador RABIN's presence in Chicago and no arrests were made. Therefore, this matter is being considered RUC.

Rabin Is Defending Lecturing for Fees While Ambassador

Special to The New York Times

TEL AVIV, May 5—Yitzhak Rabin, the Premier-designate, acknowledged today that during his tenure as Israeli Ambassador to Washington he collected fees for public appearances. He said the practice had been common and legal and that the earnings had not been liable to Israeli income tax.

Mr. Rabin released a statement in response to criticism Friday in the newspaper Maariv. The paper questioned his silence in the face of persistent reports that while he headed the embassy in Washington he employed an agent to book private appearances and that he earned tens of thousands of dollars.

Members of Parliament have submitted questions to Foreign Minister Abba Eban, but he has not yet replied.

Lectures Without Fees

Mr. Rabin said today that despite press report in the last two years and the parliament-authority had ever requested a clarification.

In his capacity as ambassador, he said, he lectured without fee all over the United States to explain his country's position, as well as at functions of the United Jewish Appeal, the Israel Bond campaign and other Jewish and Israeli causes.

The fees he received were for other appearances, in accordance with the practice in the embassy before he took over in 1968, he added. To the best of his knowledge, he said, this was permitted under a regulation allowing civil servants to lecture for fees so long as it was not done regularly and did not constitute a second job. He added that advisors had told him the income was not taxable in Israel.

of Mr. ARAFAT's visit to the Palestinian Liberation Army units stationed along the Suez Canal. This was taken as a sign of determination to implement the unpublished Council resolutions regarding the necessity of bringing the PLO closer to joint action with all the Palestinian guerrilla movements.

This publication also reflects that YASIR ARAFAT, aka Abu Ammar, was elected the Chairman of the New Executive Committee for the PLO.

It is noted that YASIR ARAFAT is the leader of the Al-Fatah movement.

The above publication carries an article entitled "The Second World Conference in Support of the Arab Peoples, Cairo 25-28 January, 1969." It reflects that among those persons present were the British historian ARNOLD TOYNBEE; the Soviet writer SHOLOKOV; the French writer JACQUES BERQUE; Professor MARCEL LIEBMAN, from Belgium. The article deals with the Middle East conflict.

The above publication also reflects that "the recent important changes in the Palestinian scene, and the emergence of Al-Fatah as leader and spokesman for the Palestinian people after the elections for the executive of the Palestine Liberation Organization have found wide coverage in the British press. Many commentators spoke of a takeover of the PLO by Al-Fatah."

A Xerox copy of "Free Palestine," mentioned above, attached herewith.

THE SECOND WORLD CONFERENCE IN SUPPORT OF THE ARAB PEOPLES

Cairo 25-23 January 1969

"IS it reasonable that legends thousands of years old should be the pretext for armed invasion aimed at driving away an entire population, the Palestinian People, from the heart of the Arab nation and that such invasion should threaten other populations living between the Nile and the Euphrates? Is it reasonable that the pretext for this invasion should be the return to the Promised Land?"

This was how President Nasser addressed the World Conference in Support of the Arab Peoples when it met in Cairo, on 25th January. Some 400 personalities from all over the world, in fact from 75 countries and 15 international organizations, came to express their solidarity with the Arab people in their struggle against Israel and its imperialist and expansionist policies in the Middle East. Among these prominent people were distinguished figures of international stature such as the British historian Arnold Toynbee, the Soviet writer Sholokov, the French writer Jacques Berque, Professor Marcel Liebman, from Belgium, together with many others who achieved fame in political, labour, cultural and social activities. Moreover, the presence of a number of Jewish personalities bore witness to the fact that the Arab-Israeli conflict is neither religious nor racial in essence but is primarily concerned with putting an end to the expansionist aggressive policies of Israel and restoring the national rights of the Palestinian people.

The very fact that the Conference chose as its motto and as its theme "Peace and Justice in the Middle East", as it is obviously clear that no peace can ever be secure and lasting unless it embodies basic requirements of justice. At the same time, the Conference made it its business to bring to world opinion the facts of the Middle East situation and to try to dispel the common ignorance of these facts that have been hitherto all too much concealed and distorted by every conceivable trick—half-truths or gross misrepresentations—at the disposal of Zionist propaganda. Furthermore, there is the correlated task of clearing up the load of confusions and schizophrenic stands taken by many supporters of Israel and wilfully nurtured and perpetuated for the past 20 years by a callous Zionist propaganda which used every means within its reach to silence the often timorous voice of so many "liberally-minded" people. For, how else could they have sustained for so long in others the belief that the claim to a Jewish national identity is a rightful claim whereas that of the dispossessed Palestinians is dismissed and written off as the blood, prayers of fanatical Arabs bent on eradicating the very existence of a valiant little people, long persecuted and whose only wish is to come to rest in the land that was promised. As for the unfortunate "Arab refugees", the liberally-minded supporter of Israel would probably shed a passing tear and argue "Couldn't they settle in one of the neighbouring Arab countries? After all, if these countries are prepared to go to war for the sake of these refugees, or so they say, wouldn't it be better to assimilate them in their own population and so peace would come to the area?" A very attractive solution indeed! You just remove the stumbling block and be friends again! If that is not moral schizophrenia, what is it then? In this twentieth century how could a true liberal condone the actions of a country such as Israel which counts as one of the few countries of the world which have elevated racialism and offensive religious bigotry to the level of a State policy?

When he spoke to the Conference, Mr. Nabil Shaath, representing the Palestinian resistance movement, Al-Fatah, stressed the fact that the Palestinian people have been deprived of their right to self-determination and their right to a free and dignified life. He pointed out that the most ignominious form of imperialism, that which uproots an entire population and drives it away from its own land in order to make room for another group of people "In the circumstances," he said, "after all doors had been shut in the face of our Palestinian people, the people had no choice but to resort to violence to recover their rights. Consequently, our people launched their national liberation revolution at the beginning of 1965—that is to say before the June 1967 war—determined to make sacrifices until victory is achieved by fully liberating their territory and returning to their homes." "We are neither fanatics, nor blood-thirsty terrorists," he went on, "we simply cannot endure any longer the misery and humiliations of the dispersion which has been imposed on us. We are entering the fifth year of our Palestinian armed revolution after having scored many victories and achieved many gains which proved our people's presence in the battlefield and manifested our people's will for a comprehensive and long-term popular revolution. This revolution strives for the establishment of a democratic Palestinian State in which Palestinians of all communities—Muslims, Christians and Jews—will live in a progressive democratic society. Our Palestinian revolution, which is an embodiment of our people's will, wishes to assert that it does not fight against the Jews nor hate Judaism. It is fighting Zionist colonialism in our country. In fact, one of the aims of our revolution is to liberate the Jews from Zionism which has dispersed our people and imported Jews in order to use them as tools serving its expansionist ambitions." And the representative of the Palestinian resistance movement concluded: "Our people have lived side by side with the Jews for many years. They provided them with a haven against European persecution. Likewise our people welcomed other communities, such as the Armenians, when they were the victims of Ottoman persecution. Our Palestinian revolution opens its heart and mind to members of humanity who wish to live in the free and democratic Palestinian society, regardless of colour, religion and creed."

In this light, the U.N. resolution of 22nd November, 1967, is no longer relevant because it aims, among other things, at confirming the State of Israel within "secure and recognized borders", thus sacrificing the Palestinian people on the altar of peace. For this, indeed, is the heart of the matter, as it is expressed clearly in the motto and theme of the Conference: "Peace and Justice in the Middle East", peace and justice as one and indivisible concept. And no peace could ever be worth seeking let alone lasting if the price to be paid for it be the humiliation and uprooting of countless people.

One of the major conclusions to be drawn from the Cairo Conference is that the Palestinian liberation movement has become a political factor of great importance in the Middle East and that it cannot be any longer ignored. Witness to that what a former French minister, M. Robert Buion, who was among the French delegation attending the Conference, said to Eric Rouleau, of Le Monde: "If the Israeli fact became a reality in 1917-48, the major consequence of the Six Day War was to crystallize the Palestinian fact. In the long term, Israel could regret having provoked herself the birth of the Palestinian nation."

YITZHAK RABIN

The 22nd Annual Conference on World Affairs was held Monday through Friday, April 14-18, 1969, at the University of Colorado, at Boulder, Colorado. A brochure concerning this conference reflects that on Wednesday, April 16, 1969, at 8:00 p.m., Yitzhak Rabin, Ambassador of Israel, Washington, D. C., was listed as the feature speaker at Macky Auditorium, University of Colorado Campus, speaking on Israel's future in the Middle East.

"The Denver Post" newspaper, dated April 17, 1969, contained an article reflecting that Rabin spoke as scheduled and stated in part that peace will be restored to the Middle East, but not until Israel is recognized as a nation by its Arab neighbors. The article stated approximately 500 persons attended this session, including a group of Arabs, apparently University of Colorado students, who carried placards into Macky Auditorium, where the address was given protesting Israel military practice. The Arabs, when asked to lower their signs and be seated, stood silently, but steadfastly at either side of the auditorium and refused to be seated. They remained at their posts throughout the ambassador's speech. The article continues Rabin stated, "The only peace in the Middle East that can be acceptable is peace between the Arab countries and Israel -- or Israel and the Arab countries. The major obstacle is that the Arab countries refuse to recognize that Israel exists.

"Peace to Israel means peace between the parties to the conflict -- without external influence from the world's 'big powers'.

"Open boundaries would permit a free exchange of ideas, 'a flow of views'. We cannot maintain peace without the opportunity to talk to each other." Rabin also said that when Egypt announced its blockade of the Straits of the Tiran at the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba, thirteen world powers, including the United States, 'forgot' a previous declaration made by them to the United Nations that they would guarantee free, innocent passage through the strait.

An established source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that the Boulder Police Department and the Colorado University campus police handled this program in an excellent manner and the few Arab students who were carrying signs protesting the speaker caused no difficulty or confusion and remained silent during the speech.

RE: PLOT TO ASSASSINATE YITZHAK RABIN,
ISRAELI AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES
IS-JORDAN

(OO: Bureau)

Re Albany airtel Bureau 2/25/70.

The 4/5/70 issue of the Sunday "Herald American", Syracuse, New York, page 57, discloses that Lt. General YITZHAK RABIN, Israel's Ambassador to the United States, will be the guest speaker at 7:30 PM, 4/11/70, in Temple Beth El at the opening dinner of the Syracuse Jewish Welfare Federation's 1970 Drive.

The article noted that Rabbi IRWIN HYMAN, Honorary Campaign Chairman, will be cited for many years of leadership to the Jewish community. It was noted that RABIN's earlier visit in 2/70, had to be cancelled because of his illness.

Appropriate sources have been alerted and the Bureau and interested offices will be kept advised of developments.

YITZHAK RABIN
ISRAELI AMBASSADOR TO THE
UNITED STATES

[REDACTED]

A review of the Yale University "Weekly Calendar" for Yale University, New Haven, Connecticut, revealed that YITZHAK RABIN, Ambassador of Israel to the United States, would make a public address entitled, "The Current State of the Arab-Israeli Conflict", on January 21, 1971. The address was scheduled for the auditorium of the Sterling Law Buildings at 7:15 p.m. The event was sponsored by the Yale Political Union and the Law School Forum.

A second source, who is in a position to furnish reliable information, advised in July 1969, that the Yale Political Union is a non-partisan forum for political debate and discussion and invites a number of leaders of national and international stature to appear before the union, which is Yale's largest student organization, numbering about 800 members representing the full spectrum of political interest.

This source stated that in recent years the union has had among its [REDACTED]

OUR MEN IN WASHINGTON.

(By Salomo Saamir).

HAARETZ

Supplement

May 12, 1972.

Diplomat Yitzhak Rabin has a negative opinion about career diplomacy.

It is doubtful whether Mr. Abba Eban who is, at least from the point of view of protocol, Rabin's direct boss, would enjoy his definitions on this subject. Says Rabin, 'Professional diplomacy has degenerated completely, the best proof for that is the U.N., which is no more than a demagogic discussion group which the world got used to.' Rabin believes that 'direct factual talk is more useful and is more appreciated than diplomatic mumbling, be it ever so polished.'

Rabin makes it pretty clear that he is not a career diplomat and that in his opinion Israel's foreign policy is too important to be left in the hands of career diplomats, who graduated from the seminar of the Foreign Ministry and whose minds are restricted to diplomatic ceremony.

Rabin's opinion as to the necessary training for an Israeli diplomat is anchored in his military past. 'It is preferable that an Israeli representative should come from a world of action and should think in terms of deeds. Military experience comprises many fields of activity, leadership, explanation (public relations), education to orderly thinking to some purpose. In the Army there is one yard-stick - results. If career diplomacy brings results - I am for it.'

The Israel Embassy in Washington - to use metaphors - reminds you of a fighting unit, sitting for long periods of time at the front line, with the men making fun of those serving in the rear. Yitzhak Rabin and his senior staff are not exactly modest in their evaluation of their status and achievements. They let it be understood that they carry successfully the main burden of Israel's foreign policy in the capital which is most important for Israel. and if U.S. arms keep flowing to Israel it is to a large extent to be chalked up to their credit. Our men in Washington have feelings of superiority towards the Foreign Ministry in Jerusalem and a somewhat negative feeling towards the Israeli mission to the U.N. They do not attach a great deal of importance to what goes on in New York and are rather amused by the sensitivity shown by Israeli circles in Washington and Jerusalem about what the NEW YORK TIMES has to say. 'Interfering' is a dirty word in the dictionary of the Embassy staff, and the Israel mission to the U.N. is, in their opinion, mainly engaged in meddling. One of the senior members of the Embassy staff told me: "Until Rabin came, the Embassy in Washington was something like a branch office of the Jewish Agency. When a serious problem arose, it was customary to activate important Jews to go to the Administration and do their best for Israel. Rabin stopped that. There is an Embassy and there is an Administration, with no interfering Jews in between.

The diplomatic staff of the Embassy numbers 25 and, together with administrative personnel the staff comes to 75. The Jordanian Embassy in Washington has 7 people, and Lebanon 3. Egypt, which has no diplomatic relations with the U.S., has 25 people in Washington, and a similar number of Americans are in Cairo. The American Embassy in Tel Aviv has more than 200 people. As to the Israeli diplomatic staff, only a minority are permanently employed by the Foreign Ministry. The majority has been 'borrowed from outside'. Possibly this is also one of the reasons for the demonstrative relationship of 'unimportance' towards Jerusalem. It is natural that a certain amount of tension should exist between the people who serve 'on the spot', where things happen, and those who sit pretty far away at headquarters. However, one gets the impression that a large part of the diplomatic staff of the Embassy is influenced by Rabin's views on practical diplomacy and means of implementation, and the people serving in Washington would like the Foreign Ministry in Jerusalem to adapt itself more to those views. They are convinced that the results achieved in Washington during the last three years have justified the approach and working method of Rabin. What seems to them important and decisive does not always appear so to Jerusalem. As an example one member of the Embassy tells this story: After many efforts I succeeded in interesting an important Senator to visit Israel. When I informed Jerusalem about it and asked to take care of accommodating him etc. they replied by cable that the hotels are full up and there is no room for him."

As far as can be judged from staying a few hours at the Embassy and talking with people, there is no tension between those who came from the Foreign Ministry and those who were lent to the Foreign Ministry for foreign service and are employed on the basis of special/contracts. (temporary) It looks to the visitor as if full harmony exists between the people, the atmosphere is good, like one big happy family. The entire staff appreciate and admire Yitzhak Rabin. One senior official of the Foreign Ministry who serves in Washington defined him as an unusual personality and a wonderful mixture of a military man and a diplomat.

Yitzhak Rabin came to Washington with one purpose in mind: to turn the U.S. into Israel's main arms supplier. The only subject that has his full attention is Israel's security. All other occupations, routine functions, are regarded by Rabin as being of secondary importance - says one of the senior workers of the Embassy. Rabin himself emphasizes: 'Israel's foreign policy has to be subordinate to our security needs. The U.S. considers Israel's problems from the viewpoint of her security.' Under the influence of Rabin and under his guidance, the main activities of the Embassy are directed at achieving concrete results which will increase Israel's security and strengthen her ability to stand fast in the peace campaign, or in the battlefield, should the need arise.

Rabin introduced at the Embassy a working method appropriate to the needs and the problems as they arise, and he is not prepared to be subjected to routine and permanency. Staff meetings, for instance, are not fixed and are held only when Rabin finds it necessary to convene his people and talk with them.

Even then he only gives general guidelines and leaves the smaller details to his staff. In Rabin's office there is no table for staff meetings, and each of those present brought his chair along.

As another example of lack of routine at the Embassy one mentions the cessation of the publication of the well-known bulletin of the Embassy, which at the time aroused a great deal of interest in the diplomatic community in Washington and many foreign correspondents in the city. The bulletin, which was called "the pink bulletin" because it was printed on pink-colored paper, appeared the last time in June 1971. Mr. Shaul Ben Haim, press attache, explains: Since then it did not appear. Rabin does not want a publication that would tell about Israel's period of milk and honey and citrus fruit, and the recipient would throw it straight into the waste-paper basket. The bulletin, which Rabin initiated, was at the time one of the most credible and popular publications in Washington because of the nature and value of the background material that was published in it. Among other things there was a sharp article in the bulletin against the Rogers Plan a few days after the plan became known.

Everyone of the members of the staff enjoys freedom of action in his field of activity. Rabin believes in team work and hardly intervenes in the current daily work of the Embassy. He prefers to concentrate on one subject, or one problem, and leaves the rest of the work to his staff. His people say that to work with him is pleasant and easygoing and one learn a great deal from him. His door is always open and one can always walk into his office, if someone needs his advice or a decision on a certain matter.

-5- Quiet, matter-of-fact Eli Ze'ira (the Military Attache) likes the idea that the Ambassador is an ex-military man: it makes his own job much easier, he says; there is no need for long explanations. Zeira cannot go into details of his work, but he says that procurement approvals are not easy to get; sometimes, it takes long arguments to persuade the Americans that this or that item is just what Israel needs.

Zvi ~~Ben~~ Brosh, ~~maxima~~ founder and first commandant of the IDF broadcasting station/ and former Ambassador in Rangoon and in Ceylon, as Minister for Information, joined the Embassy two years ago/ He shares in the general atmosphere of satisfaction and is not prepared to accept the view that Israel's information activities are inadequate. There are such things as priorities, he points out, and it may be important what the students and liberals say about Israel, but other things are still more important. If 78 Senators and ~~more than half~~ more than half of the House signed the declaration in support of aircraft supplies to Israel, that is the result of effective information. The task of Israeli information in the US, Brosh says, is mainly to influence Administration decisions indirectly.

Contact with the 250 American and more than hundred foreign journalists in Washington are the business of Shaul Ben-Haim, who is on loan to the Foreign Ministry from MAARIV. He has his abdn full with the fifty phone calls a day the Embassy receives from journalists. Rabin is very popular with the Washington press and is often asked for interviews. He does not get excited about articles against or in favor of Israel, and has given orders not to write letters to the editor about the unfavorable ones: there will always be a different article the next day anyhow. Still, Ben Shaul estimates that five out of six articles about the Middle East in the major American papers are in Israel's favor, and is proud of it.

Rabin's press conferences for foreign correspondents -- usually twice a year -- are an attraction; the last one drew 90 journalists, while an Egyptian diplomat had an audience of 40 and Sisco one of 50. Rabin often lectures to senior American officers and at military academies and bases. As a former Chief of Staff and the general of the Six Day War, he is regarded as an authority on military affairs and on the Israeli-Arab issue, and his speeches are regarded as major events.

He has become closely befriended with Joseph Sisco, Assistant Secretary of State for the Middle East. They regularly meet for lunch, unofficially; Rabin will invite Sisco to a little restaurant near the Embassy; if Sisco is the host, he takes Rabin to a private club of which he is a member. They call each other by their first names. On his last birthday, Sisco took Rabin the Rabins to the ball game. They like each other and trust each other personally, but -- as one of the Embassy people is at pains to point out/ -- their friendship does not mean that they insist any less on their respective positions when they meet unofficially or officially. "I have read the report on one of their talks, and believe me,, it was a harsh, unbending dialogue."

~~Like~~ There is little glamor about the life of an Israeli diplomat in Washington. The salary does not permit lavish entertaining, and also, "Rabin does not think social relations with diplomats very important: "I am accredited to the United States, not to the corps diplomatique.. My job is to seek closer contacts with the Americans, not with foreign diplomats."

The atmosphere at the Embassy is almost as quiet as at a successful

ful bank that is proud of its balance sheet. Rabin and his staff make no secret of their satisfaction with the present state of relations between the US and Israel. It is perhaps no coincidence that Rabin's desk is completely empty. "At this stage I am out of a job. All our requests have been granted. Relations between Israel and the US in practical terms have never been better than they are now. I can't say that this is the maximum, but our situation here is better than it has ever been.. Because of my past, I am sensitive. In the IDF, we say that the enemy of a good situation is a very good situation. But I am definitively pleased with what we have achieved." In the last three years, Rabin points out, Israel has obtained $ 900 million in loans and guarantees for arms purchases from the US. For the first time in 15 years, Israel has been given a grant of $ 50 million. The Administration has already included a loan of $ 300 m. and another grant of $50 m. in next year's estimates.

Rabin is not worried about what Israel has to expect from the Moscow talks. "Israel's nervousness is natural, but the concern is unjustified. The US is against an imposed solution in the Middle East, and I see no reason not to trust the Americans." Is he, as has been said in Israel, too strongly pro-Republican? "Israel must adopt policy of saying thank you. That does not mean that we must tie ourselves hand and foot, but we must be grateful. What interests me is who has given ~~what~~ what to Israel, and I help those who help Israel." On the subject of peace and territories, Rabin says the ball is in the Egyptian court, but he adds: "Better security without peace, than peace without security."

stay on till March 1973, but relaxed as he is, one gets the impression that he wants to go home. He is definitively satisfied with the results of his time in Washington. Now, with things running as they should, he apparently thinks that his time as Ambassador in Washington is over.

YITZHAK RABIN
ISRAELI AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES
IS - ISRAEL

Attached are three copies of a translation of an article which appeared in the 5/12/72 issue of the Hebrew-language daily newspaper "Haaretz" entitled "Our Man in Washington."

The translation was made by Embassy translators in Tel Aviv. The article contains commentary regarding Rabin and the operation of the Israeli Embassy in Washington, D. C. The enclosures are being submitted for the information of the Bureau.

REQUEST OF THE BUREAU:

Consider furnishing copies of the translation to WFO and New York, in view of coverage of Israelis in the United States.

No dissemination is necessary to State Department [redacted] inasmuch as the attached translation was made available to the entire Embassy in Tel Aviv.

Rabin Urged To Clarify Position

By MORTON KONDRACK
WASHINGTON (CS-T) —

Important American Jewish leaders are urging that Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin make a "positive statement" on the Palestinian issue when he visits the U. S. next week.

One of the leaders, Rabbi Alexander M. Schindler, said in an interview that Rabin should work to correct "a feeling among the American people—which I do not think is justified—that there is obduracy on the part of Israel" on the Palestinian issue.

He said Rabin should "articulate what the Israelis already do—affirm their recognition of Palestinian rights and make a clear distinction between the Palestinian and the Palestine Liberation Organization. The distinction has been blurred in the American mind."

'Sounds Negative'

Schindler, newly elected chairman of the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations and president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, was here to lead representatives of 32 Jewish organizations in quizzing Democratic presidential candidates.

He was not alone among the organization representatives in believing that Israel's position on the Palestinians "sounds negative" to Americans and should be stated more positively by Rabin. Others did not make their comments for quotation, however.

Criticism has also been voiced by Israelis that the Rabin government's position has made Israel seem intransigent.

Rabin Starts U.S. Visit Today

to Seek Accord on Peace Tactics

By TERENCE SMITH

Special to The New York Times

JERUSALEM, Jan. 25—Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin will leave here tomorrow on an 11-day official visit to the United States that a Cabinet communiqué today said was aimed at reaching a "mutual understanding with the United States Government on ways of promoting political negotiations toward peace with Israel's neighbors."

The key phrase, officials said, is "mutual understanding." This is the primary goal of the Prime Minister's visit the officials added, and is likely to be his most difficult task.

The communiqué also said that the Cabinet members had voted unanimously that any proposals Mr. Rabin put forward in his scheduled talks with President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger "should be based on extant Cabinet resolutions."

That phrase, in the opinion of Israeli officials, indicates that Mr. Rabin will carry no new or revolutionary negotiating proposals in his briefcase.

Significantly, Mr. Rabin proposed the wording of the resolution himself, presumably to deflect in advance any Ford Administration efforts to get him to agree to negotiate with the Palestinians or to take any other steps not already authorized by the Israeli Government.

Although no major changes can be expected in the Israeli position, the trip is nonetheless regarded by officials as a crucial part of the current effort to reinforce Israel's strained and vital relations with its principal sponsor in the world community.

Washington is the one capital to which Israel can turn, as things stand today, for arms, financial assistance and political support. The headlines provide ample proof of this dependency. Mr. Rabin will be arriving in Washington at a time when Daniel Patrick Moynihan is serving as the Israeli voice in the United Nations Security Council and Congress is considering the merits of Israel's $2.3 billion aid request.

To the dismay of many Israelis, it is also a time when the strategies and political interests of the two Governments are in conflict. Put simply, it is a time when the Ford Administration is eager for diplomatic movement in the Middle East and the Rabin Government wants to postpone it.

The Ford Administration wants movement both as a guarantee against a new outbreak of fighting in an election year and to protect its principal foreign policy achievement—the interim agreements in the Middle East. The Rabin Government, in contrast, wants to defer the tough political decisions until Israel's bargaining position has improved and its own electoral position has strengthened.

"It is the ongoing, endless effort to gain time—the motive force that has guided all of Mr. Rabin's actions since he came to power in June 1974," wrote David Landau, the diplomatic correspondent of The Je-

Jerusalem Post, in a commentary on Friday "It begs the question then what? Its chief advantage is that it defers decisions that the country is not willing or not able to take"

Mr Rabin's first objective in Washington, therefore, will be to try to reach agreement on a joint political strategy that will, in the words of one Israeli official, "get us through 1976"

There is a lively debate here, as to whether Israel's bargaining position is stronger or weaker in an American Presidential election year. Regardless of the answer, Mr Rabin seems convinced that things will be better for Israel in 1977 and thereafter

The viewpoint of most Israeli officials is that a return to the Geneva conference is the most promising approach for a joint American-Israeli strategy in 1976

For one thing, both Governments are in agreement at the moment that the conference should be reconvened without the participation of the Palestine Liberation Organization

Secondly, President Anwar el-Sadat of Egypt recently announced his willingness to return to Geneva without the presence of the P.L.O. at the initial session. This gives the Geneva forum the distinction of being the only negotiating option that has so far attracted the public support of any Arab leader

Thirdly, the other two negotiating options—attempts to reach interim agreements with either Syria or Jordan—appear to be blocked at the moment

Syria seems determined in its opposition to such a move and King Hussein of Jordan, for the moment at least, seems unwilling to reassert himself in the role of negotiator for the Palestinians of the occupied West Bank. This responsibility was conferred upon the Palestinian Liberation Organization at the Rabat summit conference 15 months ago and the Jordanian monarch seems to have accepted that decision at least temporarily.

That leaves Geneva, in the Israeli view, although serious problems arise with that option as well. How to cope with the Palestinian demand for a separate delegation, is one, coordinating an agreed strategy with the United States is another

The Israeli fear is that if the United States is forced to go to Geneva, and in the process admit the collapse of Secretary of State Kissinger's "step-by-step" approach, the Ford Administration would opt for something very close to the famous Rogers Plan of 1969

That plan, named after William P. Rogers, then Secretary of State, called for an Israeli withdrawal from all but insubstantial portions of the Arab territory it occupied in 1967, as part of an over-all peace agreement. The Israeli Government is adamantly opposed to such sweeping territorial withdrawals, but Israeli officials are privately convinced that the Rogers Plan represents more-or-less official American policy in the Middle East.

"The Rogers Plan has never been endorsed or repudiated by the Ford Administration," one official said last week. "But they seem to be following its principles to the letter"

Return to Washington

When the Prime Minister of Israel arrives in Washington today, he will find the mood and preoccupations of the United States Government somewhat different from those which he encountered as Israel's Ambassador in the heady days after the Six-Day War of 1967.

If there is no loss of underlying sympathy and support for Israel's security and well-being, there is a clear eagerness to move the parties of the Middle East conflict out of diplomatic standstill and into a negotiating process which may reduce the danger of this country—and the world—being drawn into war. Painful compromises cannot be postponed much longer, either by Israel or by the Arab forces arrayed on Israel's frontiers—including the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Prime Minister Rabin reportedly is prepared now to accept an early convening of the Geneva peace conference, a welcome change from his Government's early resistance to that forum. The problem is that in recent months leaders of the Arab world, backed by the Soviet Union, have upped the ante on that conference, they are now insisting that the P.L.O. attend as a full-fledged and independent participant from the very start.

For the United States, let alone Israel, to succumb to such a demand would mark a major concession without the slightest corresponding concession from the P.L.O. or its Arab backers. Certainly the arguments made at the United Nations Security Council by P.L.O. representatives, invited there over United States objections, revealed disappointingly little flexibility on their side.

The P.L.O. cannot be accepted as a serious negotiating partner while that organization continues to deny any legitimate standing to Israel, one of the necessary parties to the negotiation. Even Syria, the current best mentor of the P.L.O., has entered into official and reciprocal agreements with Israel and accepted United Nations resolutions which acknowledge the sovereignty and territorial integrity of all states in the area, including Israel.

Yet the principle of Palestinian participation in peace talks is sound—indeed, necessary—if anything like security and stability is to be achieved for all the peoples of the Middle East. One way out of the impasse might be for the invitations to a conference in Geneva, or some more informal setting, to be couched in terms that imply each participant's recognition of all the others as legitimate parties to a negotiation. The P.L.O. would then be free to accept the diplomatic ground rules—or reject them.

If Prime Minister Rabin and the Ford Administration could reach agreement on such an approach, the Israeli leader's Washington visit would mark a step forward. The United States has shown its fidelity to the diplomatic commitments which Secretary of State Kissinger made to Israel at the time of last December's Sinai accord, as witness the firm American position in the latest Security Council debate and last night's veto. Now it is for the Israeli Government to confirm its determination to enter upon meaningful negotiations for a broad settlement among all the Middle East combatants.

Congress Panels to Hear Rabin

WASHINGTON (CDN) — Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin meets today with members of the Senate and House appropriations committees and is expected to press home his argument that any cut in Israeli aid will be a setback to that nation's "deterrent requirements."

The Administration has proposed a $1 billion overall figure for military and other supporting programs for the year beginning Oct 1, about a half billion below last year's figure.

Rabin, in his third day in the capital, is also continuing his talks with Kissinger.

No Change Seen

Informed sources here did not consider his address to a joint session of Congress yesterday as any change in the Israeli position.

They said Rabin has made his views clear for some months. And they appeared unimpressed by his declaration that he is ready to meet with any Arab government leader "at any time and at any place" for peace talks.

His speech did not provide "the opening" that the U S is seeking, it was explained, and Rabin's call for reconvening in Geneva is a re-statement of a previous Israeli stance, they said.

The positions outlined by Rabin "run exactly counter to the Arab position," according to these sources.

Rabin: Israeli Right to Life Core of Mideast Conflict

By STAN CARTER

Washington, Jan. 28 (News Bureau) — Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin told a joint session of Congress today that the core of the Mideast conflict is that the Arab countries still refuse to reconcile themselves to Israel's right of existence

Rabin pledged that despite this, Israel would press ahead with its effort to make peace with its Arab neighbors "however difficult the road, however hard the challenge, and however complex the process"

He proposed as the next step in Mideast peacemaking efforts the reconvening of the long-dormant Geneva peace conference—but under conditions that have been publicly rejected by the Arabs.

"The parties to the conflict must be the parties to the peace-making process," Rabin declared. This, in effect, ruled out any participation in peace negotiations by the Palestine Liberation Organization, the main Arab demand in the recent UN Security Council debate

Rabin, in what was generally regarded as a hard-line speech, brushed aside Arab pressures for settlement of the Palestine issue as the next order of business in Mideast peace negotiations.

Rabin's half-hour speech was the first to a joint session of Congress by an Israeli leader. Congressmen and Senators interrupted him with applause four times and gave him a standing ovation at the end, but there were 30 to 40 empty seats in the House chamber, compared to only about a half-dozen when Egyptian President Anwar Sadat addressed a joint session last November.

Referring to Sadat's speech, Rabin said

"A short time ago, from this very rostrum President Sadat wisely declared 'There is no substitute for direct person-to-person contacts that go deep into the heart of all the problems which invoke our common concern and capture our imagination'

"I wish that he would direct those words to me as well as to you, the Congress of the United States, I would then know that the work of true peacemaking has finally begun"

RABIN HONORED HERE AFTER MEETING FORD

An overflow audience of more than 1,500 people attended a dinner the Statler Hilton Hotel here last night in tribute to Premier Yitzhak Rabin of Israel.

The dinner was sponsored by the United Jewish Appeal-Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of New York.

Earlier in the day, Mr Rabin, after a heavy schedule in Washington, where he met with President Ford and addressed a joint session of Congress, was greeted by Governor Carey and Mayor Beame at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Speakers at last night's dinner included Gustave L. Levy, chairman of the UJA-Federation drive, Frank Lautenberg, general chairman of the nationwide United Jewish Appeal, and other Jewish leaders. They called for support of the drive in behalf of needs in the metropolitan area, and asked that humanitarian programs for Jews around the world, be supported, particularly in Israel.

Mr Levy announced that the drive to date had resulted in the raising of more than $30 million.

Rabin Here, Sure of U.S. Support

By WILLIAM HEFFERNAN

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin told leaders of the Jewish Community here last night that he was "fully satisfied that President Ford and Secretary of State Kissinger and the United States will continue to provide the financial support needed for Israel to purchase enough weapons to adequately defend itself."

Fresh from his visit to Washington, Rabin said, "I have come back encouraged." Rabin made his remarks during a 15-minute talk to an audience of 1,500 at the Statler Hilton.

"I believe there is an understanding and a readiness on the part of the United States to support and to strengthen Israel."

I have not found any difference in what our two governments believe must be achieved and what must be done to reach that achievement."

Rabin was greeted with thunderous applause as he entered the hotel's grand ballroom to attend a dinner of the United Jewish Appeal and the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies. The applause continued as he made his points.

JDL Marchers Miss Him

An exceptionally strong burst of handclapping followed when he recalled that, before he left Israel, he had "heard about an erosion of sympathy and a loss of support for Israel by the American people." He added:

"I believe now there is no basis for that rumor . . . I have found understanding and sympathy."

As he spoke, about 200 members of the Jewish Defense League, which does not support Rabin's stand, met at Carnegie Center, 345 E 46th St.

They heard Rabbi Meir Kahane, who was released during the day from the Allentown, Pa., federal prison, maintain that "true Jews will not allow Israel one inch of retreat."

Kahane led a march on the Statler Hilton, but the participants arrived after Rabin had returned to his suite at the Waldorf Astoria.

Rabin Spends Relaxing Day Here

Israel Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin had a relaxed day in New York yesterday after his hectic week in Washington. During the morning, he held a series of personal meetings with old friends in his suite in the Waldorf Towers. Then there was a lunch for a group of leading American editors, also in his suite, followed by scheduled courtesy calls from Mayor Beame and Gov. Carey. U.S. Re-ignites Rivalry

With Defense Chief

By TERENCE SMITH

Special to The New York Times

JERUSALEM, Feb. 2 — A chance remark reportedly made last week in Washington by Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin provoked a furor here and reignited the rivalry between the two most powerful men in the Israeli Government Mr Rabin and his Defense Minister, Shimon Peres.

The incident reveals the degree to which the private strains between the two men have become public property. It is also a barometer of the current Israeli sensitivity about the country's image abroad.

So far, at least, the public criticism has been focused on Mr Rabin for supposedly speaking out of turn. Mr Peres has maintained a discreet silence, although his aides report that he will demand a full explanation from the Prime Minister when he returns from his visit to the United States later this week.

The controversy stems from a background briefing Mr Rabin held for Israeli correspondents in Washington on Thursday. In it he was reported to have criticized the lists of military needs recently submitted to the United States by the Israeli defense establishment as poorly drawn up and padded with "gadgets" not genuinely required for national security.

The reports of the briefing initially quoted "a senior source in Mr Rabin's party," but subsequent articles revealed that the source was the Prime Minister himself. In effect, he was taking a page from Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who habitually gives background briefings to the reporters traveling on his plane that are attributable only to a "senior official" with the Kissinger party

In his guise as a senior source, Mr Rabin was quoted as having said that the arms requests "did not add to Israel's honor," had strained relations with American defense officials and subsequently had to be scaled down to avoid a conflict. The reference apparently was to the $1.5 billion arms request for the 1977-78 fiscal year, not the current $1.5 billion list.

Rightly or wrongly, the Prime Minister's comments were taken here as an attack on the Israeli defense establishment generally and on Mr Peres personally. This was the unanimous conclusion among Israeli officials, politicians and editorial writers, despite the fact that all requests for military equipment are reviewed and approved by the Prime Minister's office before they are submitted to Washington.

Press Is Critical

Whatever the motive, the Prime Minister's remarks provoked a rash of scathing editorials in the Israeli press today. Even Davar, the organ of Mr Rabin's own Labor Party, expressed its "great astonishment" at the timing and place of Mr. Rabin's comments and complained that they added to "the image of the Israeli leadership speaking in several voices."

Haaretz, the leading independent paper, noted that "there is nothing new for Israelis in seeing the Prime Minister stinging the Defense Minister, but never before has he directed such destructive criticism in public—and while abroad."

"This is no way for the Prime Minister to conduct the state's affairs," the paper concludes.

The rivalry between the two Israeli officials dates from April 1974, when the Central Committee of the Labor Party selected Mr Rabin over the older and more experienced Mr Peres to succeed the retiring Prime Minister, Golda Meir. The race was close, but Mr Rabin finally won out by the narrow margin of 45 votes in the 614-member committee.

The two ministers appeared to work smoothly at first, but the personal strain was soon obvious. They were privately critical of each other, for example, during the long negotiations leading to the second Sinai agreement with Egypt. American officials who participated said the hostility between the two was thinly disguised during the formal sessions and overt in private.

Despite their differences, Mr Rabin and Mr Peres continue to function side by side in the Cabinet. Since their arguments appear to be more personal and tactical rather than over strategic issues, no open break is likely.

Rabin: We Fight for Freedom

CHICAGO (AP) — Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin compares Israel's fight for existence with the U S' Revolutionary War — a fight for freedom and individual rights

"We in Israel have achieved what we consider a unique phenomenon—the oldest national liberation movement—stretching back centuries—to when the Jewish state was expelled," Rabin said at a black-tie dinner last night

He noted his visit was the first official visit to this country in your Bicentennial . . . and Israel as the only democracy in the Middle East pays tribute to you, the greatest of us all"

Rabin was scheduled to depart early today for Los Angeles

In his one-day visit, Rabin did not refer directly to reported differences between him and the Ford Administration during his stay in Washington

But in apparent reference to the President's proposal to cut military aid to Israel by $500 million in 1977, Rabin said Israel is "determined to do everything that is possible to advance the cause of peace . . . But we are determined to make sure our strength would allow us to defend ourselves — by ourselves — if war is forced upon us"
